

Subject: Congratulations - Nominating your team for AI program

Hi {Nominated Manager} -

You've been chosen to participate in the 2026 AI Adoption Program, a new initiative designed for a select group of managers who have been nominated to lead the next wave of AI-enabled teamwork at our company.

This program – led by Stanford University and Harvard Business School faculty – focuses on helping managers guide their teams beyond individual AI tools and instead reimagine real workflows with expert support. It includes:

- Hands-on sessions with globally recognized experts
- A tailored approach built around your team's current priorities
- Practical techniques to identify high-value AI use cases
- Clear before-and-after assessments to measure progress
- Less than four hours of total time commitment over six months

Your primary role, in addition to participating alongside your team, will be to ensure the sessions are scheduled within the designated two-week window and to encourage your team to put their learnings into practice.

If you'd like to participate, simply reply to this email to secure your spot.

Let me know if you have any questions.

Best regards,

Sincerely
